

I am involved within the deaf community and I am aware of the changes evolving around the VRS (Video Relay Service). Today, there are many obstacles for handicapped people. There is no reason to try to limit the services provided for the handicapped population and/or make daily living any more difficult than what it has to be. We need to focus on the people within this country that do not have all of the abilities and rights as many other Americans do, instead of focusing on ourselves and what will make our lives easier. Keep that in mind when you delete or change certain services we provide for our handicapped citizens.
